The Reef 23.05.2012

Last time we ventured out to the reef the waves had gone small, waist to chest high on very infrequent sets. A good time to rest up, get a few massages and walk around this quirky little town of Lembongan Island. There is a little pulse of swell inbound which will hopefully put on a show. We will probably take a fast boat to Desert Point (Lombok) to intercept it.

Lots of people are emailing me about accommodation on Lembongan Island. It's a small place and I recommend Batu Karang, an Aussie operated Resort located on the hill in town with panoramic views leading to Agung, the great volcano of Bali. It's a great surf trip to bring the family or partner...with all the modern amenities and really fun waves in crystal blue waters.

Have a great day, looks sunny back home in Sydney (bit chilly) and waves look tiny also.
